HABCORE HELD HOME SWEET HOME CELEBRATION

HABcore supporters recently came out for the second annual Home Sweet Home Celebration at the Shadowbrook in Shrewsbury. Guests enjoyed dinner, dancing to the music of Tim McLoone and the Shirleys, a fabulous auction and a spectacular "sweet" table full of desserts donated by local pastry chefs. This year, HABcore recognized the employees of Sickles Market and the volunteers from Tower Hill Church in Red Bank for their dedication to HABcore and the community. Sickles Market provides fresh produce to HABcore's boarding homes and the volunteers from Tower Hill have spent hours refurbishing the garden at Coffey Residence, painting and providing household supplies to HABcore's new residence. Proceeds from this "sweet" event will help HABcore continue to provide permanent and supportive housing to veterans, families and individuals with special needs. Pictured are HABcore president Susan Harbison and event chair and advisory board member Dean Ianucilli.

CANVAS ART STUDIO HOSTED ART FOR HAITI FUNDRAISER

CANVAS Studio Art in Rumson recently hosted an opening reception for two Haitian artists who came to the area to discuss their work and raise funds for their Art School (ELT Art School) which not only teaches art to more than 60 students but also provides students with hot lunches and clean water. The artists, Myke Joseph Surpris and David Thebaud, were invited to the area by Christine Berg, a French teacher at Rumson Fair Haven High School (RFH). Prior to the opening reception, the artists visited the high school and discussed with the RFH students their work and life in Haiti. About 50 pieces of artwork were displayed and were for sale at CANVAS to help the artists raise funds for their school. Pictured (from left) are Sara Handerhan, Tracy Handerhan, Christine Berg, and David Thebaud "Tebo". Mrs. Handerhan is the principal of RFH and purchased one of Tebo's works. Mrs. Berg was instrumental in getting the artists here for the RFH French & Art Departments.
